Ginny Liskow 'Citizen'

Marian, Jerry Adkins win 'Outstanding Service'

Ginny Liskow, four-year resident of Sierra Madre, was chosen "Citizen of the Year" by the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce "Citizen" committee, headed by Nancy Shollenberger. She is president of the Rose Float Association that won an award for its trophy this year.

Marian and Jerry Adkins were given a special award for "Outstanding Community Service" this year.

All will be honored at the annual Installation Dinner and "Citizen of the Year" fete Jan. 30, 7:30 p.m. at Altadena Country Club.

Liskow said, "I'm surprised, startled and delighted. I haven't lived here very long. We do our volunteering for the Rose Float and I am overwhelmed."

Jerry Adkins said, "We don't want you to thank us or the (Rose Float) association — it's a community effort. It's the town. We just happen to be the people involved for several years."

Marian Adkins added, "I just want to say thank you very much. It's very nice of you even to think about it. Volunteers — that's what makes Sierra Madre so special."

The announcement was made Tuesday morning at the monthly Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce board meeting. Because of the last-minute announcement, more information about the recipients will be available in next week's edition of the Sierra Madre News.

Police find possible grave robbery

Sierra Madre Police Officer John Cordischi investigated a possible grave robbing in Sierra Madre Cemetery over the weekend.

Cordischi told The News that a 6-foot by 4-foot hole was dug sometime during a "two- to three-day period," between 5:30 p.m., Dec. 31 and 6:30 p.m., Jan. 3.

A shovel was left inside the open hole and there were tennis shoe imprints and other forms of evidence such as cigarette packages left at the scene, also.

The gravesite, located about 20 feet from Sierra Madre Blvd. in the old section, the east side of the cemetery, belonged to a female who was buried in 1929. Her identity, of course, will not be revealed.

Cordischi suspects one or two persons, either juveniles or young adults. The body had been disturbed and only the skull and pelvis bone remained.

Cordischi assumes that the long bones of the body were removed, although he has no evidence to substantiate that assumption.

A spokesperson from Los Angeles Coroner's Office told The News that the condition of human bones lying in the ground for that length of time would depend upon several factors: soil condition, drainage and the type of casket used.

He also said that there are so many variables that it is difficult to determine why some bodies decompose more quickly than others. Bones many hundreds of years old have been excavated.

"One would think that if the pelvis and skull were in fair condition that the major long bones would be in the same condition; however, that is only a supposition," the spokesperson told The News.

Cordischi said the Sierra Madre Police have no evidence why this particular grave was chosen.

"The reasons are obviously unknown," he said. He questioned why the suspects did not choose a grave further into the cemetery instead of one that is so close to the highway.

Why would anyone do such a prank? Cordischi

Pre-trial for Johnson set for this Friday

A pretrial conference and motions are set for Friday, Jan. 10, at 9 a.m. in Pasadena Superior Court, Dept. H, for Vernon Vilroy Johnson of Sierra Madre who has been charged with the murder of his wife, Betty Florence Johnson.

Deputy District Attorney Susan Wondries says the date of the actual trial will be set that day.

Johnson has been out on $50,000 bail since he was charged with the murder of Mrs. Johnson whose body was found on Acacia Street, a block from the Johnson home on June 9. The couple had lived on Valle Vista.

An autopsy indicated that a gunshot wound to her head had killed Mrs. Johnson.

The Search and Rescue Team found a gun down the cliff from the Johnson home early the day after her body was found.

Walter Biely dies after attack

Walter Biely Sr., 58, of Sierra Madre died Tuesday evening about 5:45 p.m. at Santa Teresita Hospital in Duarte.

Mr. Biely was admitted Monday evening with chest pains, then had a massive heart attack Tuesday morning.

More information will appear in next week's edition of the Sierra Madre News.

Float wins award

The community of Sierra Madre was pleasantly surprised when the town's whimsical float won the Princess Award on Jan. 1 in the Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena. This is the 41st award Sierra Madre has garnered during the 46-year history of city floats.

This year's float was dedicated to Norm Morrison and Dan Janske, both very active Sierra Madre Rose Float Association volunteers. Both died the past year.

The Princess Award is given for the best small float 35 feet and under and has nothing to do with the Tournament or Sierra Madre Princesses, said Ginny Liskow, president of the Sierra Madre Rose Float Association. Sierra Madre is one of six "self-builts," the others being La Canada, Cal Poly, Downey, Burbank and South Pasadena.

Float winners other years include 1983, First; 1982, First; 1980 and '81, First; 1979, First; 1978, Founders; 1973-1977, First; 1972, Red Rose; 1970-71, First; 1969, Red Rose; 1965-'68, First; 1964, Red Rose; 1962-63, First; 1960 and '61, Second; 1959, Third; 1958, Theme; 1956, First; 1955, Second; 1954, Third; 1953, Merit; 1952, First; 1951, Second; 1948, '49 and '50, First; 1946 and '47, Third; 1939 and '40, Second; and 1938, First.

The first Sierra Madre float recorded was in 1917, sponsored by the Board of trade.

Robert Marble, artist whose humorous drawings and paintings can be purchased at the Sierra Madre Friends of the Library Art Fair each year, was designer of this year's float.

To what do George and Ginny Liskow, floral director and president of the Sierra Madre Rose Float Association, respectively, attribute this year's success?

"Good design and excellent construction as well as the flowering," Ginny Liskow answered quickly.

Marble, of course, was responsible for the design and Peter Gonzales was in charge of construction. George Liskow headlined the flowering this year. Ginny Liskow adds, "It was all very carefully done in accordance with a good plan."

City Council faces hot, long agenda

Next week's Sierra Madre City Council meeting, Tuesday, Jan. 14, promises to offer a few fireworks since three of the four public hearings are very controversial among Sierra Madreans.

Representatives of the Sierra Madre Police Association and management have been in a "meet and confer" situation since October, mainly because they cannot agree on the issue of wages.

City Administrator Jim McRea told The News, that the city offered 6% raise but it was not accepted, so both entities agreed on an impasse.

The public hearing scheduled next week is set to receive comments publicly and to allow those present to express their opinions. The City Council will make their decision that evening.

Ordinance #1016, dealing with guest houses in the R-1 zones, has been before the council several times, McRea stated. It requires everyone with guest

● Our congratulations to Susie Koon for receiving the Paul Harris award from the Rotary Club. It is a singular honor and a very prestigious award — and she deserves it.

● Ray Fox noted my reporting attending the Harbor Lights lighted boat parade at Newport and told me he had been in that parade many times. He and George Morgridge, former owner of The News, have spent many hours in the parade on Morgridge's boat, he told me. He agreed that it is, indeed, a sight, but it is even more fun riding in the Harbor Lights parade — than watching.

● It was a wonderful party for Dr. David Jordan Saturday evening — and the music, as usual, was extraordinary. It's always a surprise to discover new talent in Sierra Madre. There is so much of it . . .

● Our official, unofficial weatherman, Loren Mezger, has come up with the total rainfall for December: .47 inches.

"This December is the driest I have recorded in the eight years that I have been recording the rainfall," Loren told us.

● Carolyn Valencia received a bird named "Squeaky" for Christmas from her husband, Christopher. And she says the bird is aptly named.

An umbrella cockatoo, "Squeaky" is just a kid and a hungry one at that. Carolyn says he eats just about anything he can get his claws on and particularly loves to be fed oatmeal with sugar for breakfast with a spoon.

It took "Squeaky" awhile to be born on July 17 — 12 hours to hatch. And was he making those sounds all that while? Probably. At least he is surely making them now.

We should probably adopt "Squeaky" as our mascot since the Sierra Madre News is affectionately known as the "Squeak."

Anyway, welcome

Sprinklers for all S.M. homes?

Since the article headlined "Fire department wants sprinkler system ordinance" appeared in the Sierra Madre News, we have been fielding many responses from the citizens of Sierra Madre.

Basic responses: "Are they kidding?"

No, Sierra Madre Fire Department principals are not kidding. They believe that such an ordinance would cut the cost of fires in both single-family homes and multiple units.

According to Sierra Madre Fire Inspector Bill Kramer, the system would cost $1.02 to $1.23 per square foot which amounts to "less than wall-to-wall carpet," he says.

Fire Chief Roger Keith would like sprinkler systems to be a part of all new construction for both single and multiple family homes and would like to see that established residences adopt the systems within five years.

If Sierra Madre residents are concerned about what sprinkler systems would cost them for their homes and/or multiple units, they should watch the Sierra Madre News for notification of the public hearing at which this subject will be discussed at the City Council meeting.

Congratulations to Rose Float workers

How can we be so good? Well, we just are. Our float danced out the Princess Award in the Tournament of Roses Parade this year.

It's not every year we win a prize, of course. But it was in the back of everyone's mind that this would be the year. Not only was the float exceptionally clever (although 15 feet shorter) but those assigning positioning of the parade placed Sierra Madre in the No. 6 slot in the parade. That seemed like the final tipoff that we were in for some good news. And, of course, we were.

We wonder how many hours and dollars were spent toward this year's float.

We have asked many of the volunteers if it is all worth the effort and we get a surprised look at such a question and a hearty, "YES."

Congratulations, Sierra Madre Rose Float Association, for an extraordinary fete.

Not once did we doubt you. Honest.

From the Mailbag: "I'm confused about the difference between a CD and all those other types of savings accounts. Is there any real difference?"

Mark Twain said that the difference between the right word and the almost right word is the difference between the lightning and the lightning bug. Same with accounts — especially CDs. The good, old-fashioned passbook account usually pays 5½% annually, for which you get a little book listing all deposits, withdrawals and interest earned. You can get at the money anytime or add to it anytime. That's nice, considering that the 5½% barely keeps up with our current low inflation rate, plus Uncle gets a slice corresponding to your tax bracket.

CD means Certificate of Deposit. You pick a certain term — say one year — and the money you put in is frozen for that time. No deposits, no withdrawals. At the end you get the principal amount plus the set interest rate specified up front. You get reassured that the rate won't change — nice if rates drop during the year, not so nice if interest rates jump.

If you must get at the money, you pay a severe penalty — some places charge 25% of the interest earned. For example, if you must break a one-year CD at 10 months, you forfeit 3 months' interest.

CDs offer safety. Many other investment instruments also offer safety at better rates of return without such potentially hobbling penalties. "A nimble quarter is better than a slow dollar" — Old Wall St. proverb.

Tips, Tales & Tantalizers

It is really funny to know that in our modern-day sophistication we still fear the unknown forces that could threaten our safety as well as our lives. And even though we are reluctant to admit it, often we surround ourselves with guards and demurely refer to them as mascots. And we all have at least one. (Mine is a teddy bear who rides in the back seat of my car — who incidentally always wears his seat belt.)

In fact, large corporations have been using mascots to sell their products for years. Remember the tires with the tiger mascot? Or what about the syrup in the brown bottle shaped like a woman? Or more typically, what about the cars of today? They have mascots ranging from animals to winged angels.

Just when did the mascot originate? Well, the mascot had its origin in prehistoric times when masks played a very important role in society. They were often carved and could be painted. They were made of bark, wood, animal skin, or sometimes even metal or stone. The purpose of the masks were to act as a camouflage and a deterrent for evil spirits and demons. The word "mascot" comes from the Old French word "La mascotte" which means the little mask.

Today's advertising has pretty much capitalized on the mascot. If we can't remember the name of a product, we simply refer to its mascot. I bet right now one of your favorite products have come to your mind and you don't see the name, but the mascot. Am I right?

So you see, all of us have a mascot and it's okay to admit it. I mean, after all, where would advertising be or where would we be without La Mascotte?

Tax forms easier for public use

State Controller Ken Cory recently released copies of California's revised and redesigned 1985 state income tax forms and instruction booklets which were mailed to the public the week following Christmas.

"The 1985 tax forms have been redesigned to help reduce unintentional errors and make them easier for the public to use," Cory said. The State Controller, who is also chairman of the California Franchise Tax Board, noted that this year's tax forms would be color coded and make use of new typefaces and larger type.

The most noteable changes have been made to the booklets for the 540A, 540, 540NR and 100 forms.

Local friends write from South Pacific

Since the first of March, Gene and I have been living in Western Samoa, a Third World country, which is the first independent island nation in the South Pacific. We have experienced the good and the bad, the heat and the love, had high points and low points. One thing has remained constant, our admiration for and pride in our American Peace Corps.

Without Peace Corps administrators and teachers, the education-al system here would collapse. Nurses and physical therapists share their expertise in the National Hospital, where a visit costs 22 cents (US), and where the patient's family is expected to provide food. Marine biologists are teaching the Samoans to "farm" within the reef, which seems just, as American armed forces introduced the Samoans to grenades, which became an effortless way to fish. This still goes on. Last month a man was killed "fishing" this way. A Physical Education major worked behind the scenes to organize the first Special Olympics ever held in this country. A skilled American craftsman teaches manual arts.

The Peace Corps volunteers range in age from those who restrict diet for complexion to those who restrict cholesterol. Their accents include a Trinidadian lilt and a Texas drawl. Some are single, some are husband-wife teams. But all are dedicated and do a fine job. We should salute them. They show patriotism in the best possible way . . . a bit like a year-round Fourth of July Parade.

Our best to friends in Sierra Madre. It is good to have Manuel and Juliette De la Torre as neighbors on the nearby islands of the Territory of American Samoa. If you are confused about the two Samoas, consult the October '85 National Geographic.

Thanks for city benches

I would like to take this means to say thank you to our city manager and the city council for getting the benches placed at all the bus stops. It took a long time, but they finally came through.

Now if we can get some signs posted at the public parking lot south of Howie's Market. There is still only one sign curbside, but it directs all parkers across to the west side of Baldwin. It has been about 4 months since I first wrote about this. Let's get some action here.

Now, let's concentrate on the big job — getting trees planted in the parkways of the city and thus let's bring Sierra Madre back to its former beauty.

The city fathers claim it cost $125 to purchase a tree and another $125 to plant a tree. Horse feathers! You can purchase 6 to 8 foot trees for $35 to $40 each and if one man can't plant a tree in one hour, there is something wrong. The city should be able to purchase and plant a tree for under $100. So let's get going, city fathers. Some of our streets are a disgrace.

Other cities plant these smaller trees — why can't we?

However — thanks for the benches.

An open letter to the Foothill Communities

I must leave the community and the country to be with my sister, Norma, who is ill in Uraguay with a brain tumor. There is a chance that I will be able to bring my sister back to this country for treatment. When my sister is better, I will return.

I will not be in my restaurant, Touch of France. I wish to thank all my good friends for their wonderful support. I will miss you all very much; however, I wish to spend some time supporting my sister's spirit.

While I am gone, my nephew and his future wife will be taking over Touch of France and I hope you will extend to them the same kind of love and support I have received from you. All the recipes will remain the same.

I wish for all of you a Happy New Year and health — Health is the most important thing for everyone, for all people.

My deepest and sincerest words — THANKS!

"Are the blue jays that are in the yard this winter, the same blue jays that brought their young to our feeders last summer?"

"Is the junco at the feeder the same one that came last year? It has the same odd, white feathers on one wing."

How can you tell if this year's birds are the same old friends from other seasons or years? It's not easy. Few birds have identifying differences in plumage. Behavior, however, might give you a clue.

Banding birds is the only sure way to tell one individual from another. That doesn't mean that just anybody can rush out and capture a bird to put a band on its leg. Bird-banders have to be well-trained and must be licensed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. It's a delicate business to catch a bird, without harming it or bandly frightening it and to slip a small, uniquely-numbered aluminum band on its leg.

Often birds are trapped in a special "mist net" — again, only with the permission of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Such nets are stretched along travel routes in birds' special habitats. Nets differ in size (usually 6 to 8 feet high and 40-feet wide) and color, depending on the type of habitat and the topography of the banding site.

Birdbanding is more than a hobby, of course. It's a scientific endeavor that serves a vital purpose: learning how birds age, where they go and what their social structure is. Tracking and counting birds has helped pinpoint two major problems of our diminishing bird population: (1) the rapid destruction of the rain forests of Central and South America (wintering habitats of many song birds); and (2) problems — perhaps caused by acid rain — on the northern breeding grounds of many of the same migrating birds.

Scientists estimate that as many as 200,000,000 meteors enter the earth's atmosphere every day. These and other meteorites are estimated to add more than 1000 tons daily to the earth's weight.

Phone users are warned of prank

At least two young people in the Sierra Madre vicinity are guilty of patching in two unsuspecting telephone users by way of a sophisticated conference call.

During this past weekend, Patricia Hofer has been called twice, once at 8 a.m., Sunday and once Monday noon. The youth who calls excuses himself for a moment and immediately another unsuspecting person answers her phone. Neither of the victims knows the other. As soon as the telephone conversation zeros in on the problem, they are cut off.

Hofer says the former call was made by a male about 10 years and the second call by a male teenager.

The News contacted Sierra Madre City Attorney Charles Martin to ask about the liability of parents of the young people responsible for the so-called prank.

"Parents are not responsible for kids' action unless they know and don't do anything about it," he reported. "It's like a kid with a BB gun. I can give my kid a BB gun and I am not responsible unless I am aware that he has used it unlawfully."

Martin said he guessed that there were few residents who had such a sophisticated setup in their homes. Surely, he said, parents could spot such action in their phone bills.

Hal Allen at General Telephone told The News he would contact his security division and have them talk with Hofer, hoping to solve the mystery by next week's edition of The News.

Area people rang in New Year with friends

Shopkeepers and citizens join together for New Year's festivities.

Grab a hat and a horn and let's celebrate.

Frank Van Dongen was master of ceremonies at the annual function.

Mayor Charles and Louise Corp, Olive Buchan and City Councilman Andrew Roy Buchan are part of crowd dancing to Western swing music.

Of course, we support the band shell!

Foothill communities joined together with the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce and enjoyed a full evening of fun with dinner and dancing at Sierra Madre Recreational Hall on Dec. 31. Balloons, hats and noisemakers completed the picture of a typical New Year's Eve party.

Business owners who were also chamber members and residents of this foothill area became acquainted, danced, formed conga lines and had another wild annual party to celebrate the coming of the New Year. Can you identify all of these neighbors?

POST-HOLIDAY CLOTHES CARE

By Joe Delgatto

Now that the holiday is over, you will want to make sure that all the clothes you wore are given the best care possible to put them back in "ready-to-wear" order.

This can be done with the utmost simplicity by you.

No matter what they are — active sports wear, casual cottons, best suit or formal, all you need to do is bring them to us for the pampering of their lives.

We'll expend every ounce of energy to indulge them.

They'll be cleaned, spots removed, resized (if they need to be) and given that revitalized look that will make you think they're new again.

If a seam was ripped, we'll mend it for you. If a zipper needs to be replaced, tell us and we do that too.

After all, clothes care and fabric maintenance are our business and we have the most skilled people in town — ready, willing and able to give your clothes the finest professional care.

All you have to do is
BRING THEM TO —

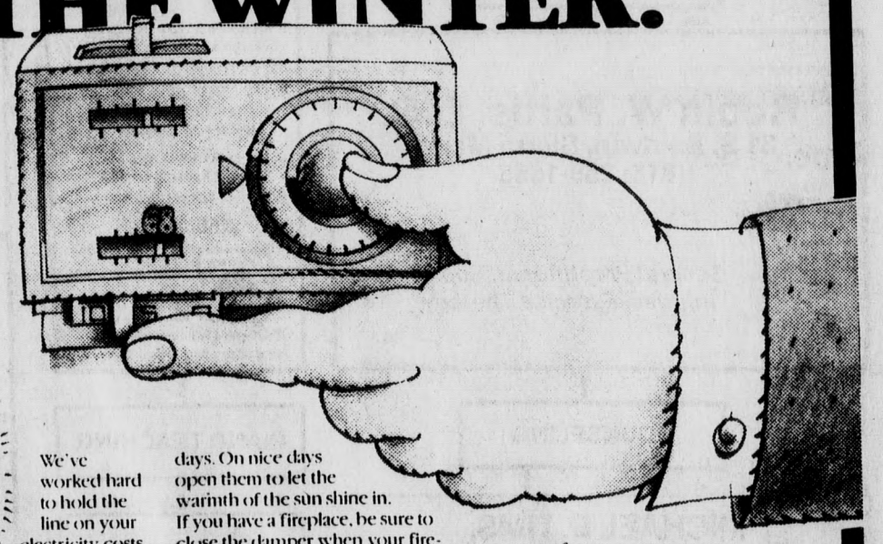
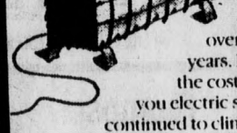
HELP YOUR WALLET WEATHER THE WINTER.





We've worked hard to hold the line on your electricity costs over the past few years. But because the costs of providing you electric service have continued to climb, you might find a slight increase in your electric bill this winter. So this might be a very good time for you to think again about the many ways you can manage energy in your own home.

A FEW DEGREES COULD DO IT.

Just by setting your thermostat at 68° during the day and 55° at night, you'll save energy. Another good way to use less heat is to heat less space. Close the doors and vents to rooms you don't use often.

If you can keep family activities in one room, an economical electric portable space heater may be all you need to keep warm and cozy.

HOLD ON TO YOUR HEAT.

Close your drapes to hold on to the heat at night and on dark, gloomy days. On nice days open them to let the warmth of the sun shine in.

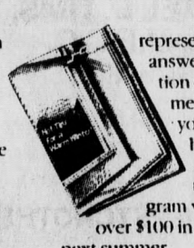
If you have a fireplace, be sure to close the damper when your fireplace is not in use. That keeps warm air from escaping up the chimney.

MORE HOT TIPS. FREE.

Edison would like you to have a free booklet filled with helpful ideas on how to save energy this winter. Including tips on energy-efficient appliances. For a free copy of "Hot Tips for a Warm Winter," just call 1-800-952-5062.

OTHER SERVICES FREE. CALL 1-800-952-5062.

If you're an Edison customer, call 1-800-952-5062 to have an Edison representative give you answers, tips and information on energy management. And they can tell you about some of our helpful services too.



Like our Air Conditioner Cycling Program which can earn you over $100 in credits on your bills next summer.

Our Level Pay Plan can help you manage your bills in equal payments throughout the year. For more information on this plan, please call your local Edison office.

Winter is almost here. But when you use energy wisely, we think you'll be amazed to discover that helping your wallet weather the winter is almost no trouble at all.

Tuesday Musicals January 12

The club was formed in 1927 to encourage the children of the Tuesday Musicale in developing their musical talents. Later, membership was opened to any serious student of the performing arts.

The Second Sunday Concerts are free and open to the public.

We'll get the scoop on your competition!

IS YOUR INSURANCE ONLY COVERING 2/3 OF YOUR HOUSE?

You may have insured your house for $50,000 against loss, but with inflation and spiraling repair costs, it could cost you $75,000 to replace it! Would you have the extra thousands of dollars you would need because you didn't have enough insurance?

What can you do to avoid being underinsured?

The answer — the Home Protector Plan with Inflation Guard.* You can insure your home to value — to what it would actually cost to replace it. Your coverage can increase automatically to help keep pace with inflation. In the event of a loss, you won't have to worry about where the extra money will come from because you weren't fully insured.

Inflation Guard is just one great feature of our Home Protector Plan. We can also tell you about Mortgage Completion insurance — a way for you to protect your home for your family in the event of your untimely death.

Stop in or call for all the details. Our Home Protector Plan could save you more money and give you more protection than your present policy, too.

Float wins

Spencer will be next year's driver since he co-drove this year.

A bit of trivia that made the float constuction interesting included flower facts, such as the use of 5600 iris, 3500 roses, and 4,780,000 radish seeds that translate into 120 pounds of the seeds. There were also 10,900 carnations used, according to George Liskow.

The lion did not look like a lion until Designer Marble came by and suggested adding more mane below the ears, Ginny Liskow noted.

Marble said, "Lions don't look like that," and promptly changed the face of the beast.

Bill Navarro worked 11 hours a day for six days straight to make sure the float would be on the road in time. Louise Corp was in charge of the signs that read "Sierra Madre Swimming Lesson," which was somewhat a tongue-in-cheek remembrance of when kids here went swimming in the mountain stream-fed pool up in the canyon years ago before the modern pool was built on the east side of Sierra Madre at the recreation center just south of the newly-constructed Rose Float building.

Flowering of the swimming hole was supervised by Judy rank who had never done any flowering before, Liskow reported.

Liskow said that Tensie Benson made two red birds, the familier logo of all of Marble's work, one for the front and one for the back. The birds were made of millet seed, Mercedes rose petals and white pom pom petals.

The Liskows said that William Spencer, grandson of Celeste and the late Norm Morrison, had one answer for everything, "No problem." The youth simply completed everything that was left undone, they said.

Two of the animals on the float were named for actual float workers: Peter Possum after Peter Gonzales and George Alligator after George Liskow. When Liskow ran out of corn flowers for Peter Possum's pants, they revised the design and added stripes of poinsettia petals which worked well.

"No problem," said "Spence."

When the Liskows came into Sierra Madre four year ago a week before Christmas, they read in the Sierra Madre News that the Rose Float Association needed volunteers, so they decided to go down and help with the decoration. That was the beginning of their active participation in the float.

Ginny said, "I spent three years doing something I really enjoyed. Working on the Rose Float is like eating peanuts — once you get started, it's habit forming." She added, "It takes a long time to win a prize."

Ginny is retiring as president and George as floral director this year. They leave as winners.

STORK ANNOUNCES NEW SCHWARTZ DAUGHTER — The same stork that announced Josette Schwartz' birth and the birth of the Schwartz son, Aaron, three years ago, was installed Dec. 28 to announce the birth at 7:55 a.m. of a new daughter, Aimee Denise, at the Schwartz home in Sierra Madre. Aimee was born on Josette and Paul Schwartz' 10th wedding anniversary and weighed 9 lbs. 3 oz. Josette's father made the metal stork at the time of her birth.

Canns celebrate 60th anniversary

Bill and Thelma Cann celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Dec. 15 with about 70 friends and relatives. They were married 60 years ago at her family's home Christmas Eve, 1925, in Frontenac, Kans.

They lived in Missouri until 1969, then retired to California and have been living in Arcadia.

Thelma Cann is past-president of the Sierra Madre Senior Citizen Club.

Among guests were three childhood friends, now of Orange County: John Thrutchley, and Charlie and LaVonne Wilson. Also present were a granddaughter, Lynda Cann of Glendale, a nephew, Gale Shipley and wife, Donna, of Redondo Beach.

The Canns have a son, Bill, of Arcadia, and a daughter, Sandra Gregory of Independence, Mo., two other granddaughters and a great-granddaughter, also of Missouri.

The Canns received a card from Pres. and Mrs. Ronald Reagan.

to the world, "Squeaky." You're a heck of a fine-feathered friend.

● Orin Kirkby brought in a piece about small towns from a trailering magazine he receives. With our apologies for paraphrasing, a few of the ways you know you live in a small town is when Third Street is on the edge of town; you don't have to use your auto turn signal because everyone knows which direction you're headed anyway; you speak to each dog you pass by name and he wags his tail at you in friendly response.

Also, you miss a Sunday of going to church and receive several get-well cards in the mail. You dial a wrong number and get to chat for at least 15 minutes; you don't walk very much for exercise because everyone offers you a ride home; you get married and the local paper devotes a quarter page to your special wedding day.

The one I liked most is that the editor and publisher of the town's newspaper carries a camera wherever she goes. How true.

Thanks so much, Orin, for sharing. I agree with you when you said, "Thank God for small towns. We love living in one."

● Have you ever spent much time watching birds at the airport? Recently, we spent a bit longer than we anticipated at LAX, and the birds around the jets are quite humorous. They look at the "big birds" lumbering up into the sky or landing, and then they show off a bit and do a few dives and loops and a few quick maneuvers that the "big birds" are unable to navigate.

● A local Sierra Madre friend tells us that her son comes here from Pasadena to pick up a water supply every week.

That remark resulted when she watched us tease a representative of a well-known water supplier after he asked us if we'd like water delivered to us weekly. You can imagine our reply: Why would we want outside water brought in when Sierra Madre's water is the greatest in the world? At least, we've been hearing ever since we bought the paper that Sierra Madre's water is second greatest in the world, second only to Lucerne, Switzerland. After all our huffing and puffing, the poor man left the office a bit dejected.

When anyone asks if we can back up those well-known Sierra Madre statements, we always say, "Ed Wagner told Sierra Madreans that over and over again." For those of you who remember Ed, know he seemed to have an inside story on our water condition.

Halley's Comet tours feature air flights, campouts through April

California Natural History tours for better viewing of Halley's Comet begin with two individual offerings, both available through Jan. 12 in the Los Angeles area.

A nighttime tour includes transporation, a look through an astronomer's telescope and a toast to the comet for $35. The evening tour includes "cometing" with an astronomer, dinner and a short instructional talk. With dinner and transportation, the cost is $55.

Another way to see the comet is in the air during flights from LAX and Ontario Airports. The cost of $95 includes an early-morning 1½-hour flight plus a light breakfast with champagne. Flight dates are Mar. 9, 16, 22 and Apr. 6 and 13.

Another comet flight includes a talk by an astronomer and breakfast with champagne. Seats will be rotated to assure good viewing during the 1½-hour flight out of LAX and Ontario at $95 per person.

The tail of the comet will extend from 8° to over 30° in length.

This tour is available Mar. 9, 16, 22 and Apr. 6 and 13.

Also scheduled during March and April are campouts in the California deserts and Baja. Astronomers will share information about Halley's Comet and the universe; naturalists and historians will share the wild flowers, wildlife, geology and history of the area.

Tours range from $125 for a two-day, one-night campout to $1595 for an 11-day trip.

Anyone needing more information, should call (213) 275-3025 or write California Natural History Tours, P.O. Box 3709, Beverly Hills, 90212.

These tours are also offered by the Natural History Museum of L.A. County and the Automobile Club of Southern California.

said it would have to be a "sick individual, someone connected with a Satanic cult or perhaps an initiation prank." He did not rule out the fact that jewels might have been removed from the gravesite.

Sam Simpson, president of the Sierra Madre Cemetery Association, called it "a brazen act."

He added that this type of thing had never happened before in Sierra Madre. He also said that a grave located in this part of the cemetery could be viewed not only from the highway but also by people who were playing tennis or city employees working within the cemetery. At this point, however, there seem to be no witnesses.

The wooden casket was splintered and the only real portion that remained were the handles. The grave was closed up after the investigation.

Laurie Cooper talks at library

Travelers & Collectors will present Laurie Cooper's Sierra Club trip through New Zealand and solo bus trip across Australia at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 10. The free slide and narration program will be at the Sierra Madre Public Library.

Laurie trekked the famous Milford and Routeburn tracks in New Zealand. Additional sightseeing included Rotorua, area of thermal activity and home to the Maori natives, with a stop at Auiland for the Maori Museum. South Island and the Mt. Cooke area were also viewed.

Laurie's Australian bus trip included Melbourne, Sydney and out into Central Australia to Alice Springs, then north to Townsley. Her sightseeing goals were Ayres Rock, the world's largest monolith, and the Great Barrier Reef. Laurie spent time here snorkling and viewing the Reef from a yellow submarine.

The series is sponsored by the Friends of the Library. Refreshments will be served by Sally Dewey and Ruth Van Meter.

houses or second dwelling units or rental units to obtain a Conditional Use Permit (C.U.P.).

If the rental unit, second dwelling or guest house is in existence and established prior to 1959, it is possible to obtain a C.U.P. across the counter at city hall.

Those established after 1959 must file for a C.U.P. with the Planning Commission.

And any of those structures in the future must file with the Planning Commission, also.

A C.U.P., however it is issued, expires under the following conditions, McRea explains: if the property is sold or transferred.

When property is sold, the C.U.P. is lost.

Ten years down the line, property owners will lose their C.U.P.

If the property is not the principal place of residence for at least six months, the C.U.P. is also lost.

For those prior to 1959, owners may apply to the Planning Commission for reinstatement of the C.U.P. If they sell their property of leave for six months, no more rental is allowed. However, they can apply for reinstatement and go through the public hearing process.

McRea explains that this "protects the concerns of the people who say we're devaluing their property. They must disclose to the owner the status and must file. If the C.U.P. is not granted, they may argue devaluation of property. It provides for the preexisting nonconforming rental to continue in perpetuity with the review of the Planning Commission or the C.U.P. any time any of the above conditions occur."

Concerning movie permits, McRea explains that the city is attempting to update and improve control and responsibility of the permit system.

The fourth public hearing concerns appeal of reclassification of R-1-15000 property to R-1-11000 for the construction of six lots on Orange Grove.

THANKS!

Small is beautiful and so are we! This year's Sierra Madre entry into the Tournament of Roses Parade garnered the Princess award.

This Award is given each year for the most beautiful float under 35 feet in length. We of the Sierra Madre Rose Float Association are most proud and we are sure the entire city is equally proud of our entry in the Rose Parade.

Our Rose Float Association wishes to thank all of the members of the community who donated their time and money to the financing and construction of our Float and we would particularly like to thank the local businesses and civic organizations who made financial contributions. Thanks a lot and we'll try to do it again next year.

Council hires risk management firm

Sierra Madre City Council at its adjourned meeting last Monday, voted 4 - 1 to hire Jack & Levine to provide within 45 days a risk management survey to the city concerning the liability insurance status for Sierra Madre.

Councilman Tom Edwards made the motion, adding, "Time is of the essence."

The one dissenting vote was by Councilman Sam Simpson, who said he believed the $2800 for the evaluation was more than Sierra Madre should pay for the services.

Mayor Charles Corp answered, "I'm not going to sit on this council with these risks without competent advice."

The council's action follows on the heels of the city's need to become self-insured since the city's liability insurance policy expired at 12:01 a.m., Dec. 16.

The council hired the firm to recommend actions that hopefully will minimize any insurance risks, and, in their words, "to indemnify and measure the risks of catastrophic financial loss and to consider all aspects of risk management."

The latter includes insurance premiums, uninsured losses, loss prevention costs, claims adjusting costs and administration.

Within 45 days they say they will recommend a program that will result in the lowest (insurance) cost on a long-term basis.

Jack & Levine representatives will interview city management; the city's insurance broker, Miner Harkness Agency; examine insurance requirements; review the claims history of the city; analyze each property, casualty and workers' compensation insurance policy; and then will prepare a report of conclusions.

According to their proposal, Part II of their contract services are provided on a monthly retainer or at an hourly rate of $40.

As the City Council and City Attorney Charles Martin promised at an adjourned City Council meeting Dec. 20, a letter has been distributed to the employees of the city of Sierra Madre on the status of their self-insurance. Signed by Martin, all City Council members and by City Administrator James E. McRea, the letter assures the employees and officers of its responsibilities. In part, it reads, "The City must and will indemnify and defend law suits and judgments for every employee for action within the scope of their employment, and extend all benefits of those sections to such employees."

At a Dec. 30 meeting of the Sierra Madre Community Development Agency, a quick look at the year indicated the review of the audit report and financial statements, and a brief runthrough of the work program for the past fiscal year was enumerated.

CRA Executive Director Jim McRea presented projects undertaken with relation to the Sierra Madre Blvd. Redevelopment Project and they include:

- Purchase of a $100,000 integrated computer system;
- Purchase of a new $40,000 telephone system for civic center facility;
- Following improvements to civic center facilities — showers, lockers and rest room facilities for police and fire facilities; basement improvements at City Hall; storage facilities for Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Dept.; improvements and expansion of Sierra Madre Public Library;
- Improvement to Sierra Vista Park for parking lot and rest rooms;
- Improvements including new roofing of Community Recreation Center;
- Completion of Phase III of corporate yards and access thereto;
- Improvements to Central Business District parking lots of repaving, striping, landscaping and handicapped access.

Also projected would be improvements to streets, curbs, gutters and sidewalks within the project area, as well as possible owner participation with Community Health Care Center and Sierra Madre Medical Clinic for development of a medical center. Also possible are improvements in cooperation with the Sierra Madre Water Department enterprise fund of settling basins.

The resolution was approved unanimously by CRA members who are also City Council members.

DAR meets at Essick House

"National Defense: Are We Living Up To Our Destiny," will be the theme of the program presented by Dr. J. Ray Risser, educator and lecturer, to the members of the Alhambra - San Gabriel Chapter, DAR, at their monthly catered luncheon at noon, today, Thursday, Jan. 9, at the Essick House, Sierra Madre Woman's Club, 550 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre. Regent, Mrs. Chester A. Cleveland, will preside.

The National Defense Committee was established in 1926 to assist members in carrying out the patriotic, educational and historical purposes of the National Society, and as a by-product of these activities, to promote an enlightened, public opinion.

The Essick House was built in 1914 and was designed by the first owner, Mrs. Newman Essick, who was a member of the early days' Woman's Club. The house is listed in Gebhard & Winter's, "Guide to Architecture in Los Angeles and Southern California," (in its third printing), as a building of historic importance. It is often included on historic tours.

The original Sierra Madre Woman's Club was built in 1907 and was demolished to make way for the city's new fire and police facility.

Any woman is eligible for membership in the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who is not less than 18 years of age and who is descended from a man or woman who, with unfailing loyalty to the cause of American Independence, served as a sailor, or a soldier or civil officer in one of the several colonies or states, or in the united colonies or states or as a recognized patriot, or rendered material aid thereto; provided the applicant is personally acceptable to the society.

Prospective members interested in joining the chapter, may contact Mrs. Chester A. Cleveland, Regent, at 282-6645.

Public Relations
Chairman

Ascension

The Quiet Day for January is this Saturday, Jan. 11, beginning with Mass at 9 a.m. Fr. Donald Behm will be the Quiet Day conductor and he will give three meditations on the Epiphany theme. Quiet time ends at 3 p.m. Persons attending are asked to bring their own lunch.

The First Sunday after Epiphany, Jan. 12, commemorates the Baptism of Our Lord. Preacher at both the 8 and 10 a.m. Masses is the Rector, Father Behm. Father Bamberger, Associate Rector, is the Celebrant at the 10 a.m. Mass and he will administer the Sacrament of Baptism at that service. Senior High Youth meet this Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

St. Mary's Guild meets Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., with the newly-elected president of the guild, Ursula Hawkins, presiding. Choir rehearsal is Thursday at 8 p.m.

A new series of Adult Inquirers classes begins this coming week. The same subject matter will be given on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. and Thursday at 10 a.m., so persons can attend the class which is convenient. The two priests will alternate teaching the evening and morning classes. These classes serve as a refresher course in the faith and practice and history of the Church, Holy Scriptures, the Sacraments and the life of prayer. Each session lasts 1½ hours. Persons who wish to learn about the Episcopal Church and/or wish to prepare for Confirmation, are invited to attend.

Bethany

Tandem Ministries, a two-track worship format will begin this Sunday, Jan. 12, at Bethany Church, Sierra Madre. The first service is at 9 a.m., concluding at 10:25, will provide a contemporary worship experience including responses by a drama team, readers' team, contemporary instrumental and vocal groups and others. The 10:45 a.m. service will be traditional in format and will conclude at 11:55 a.m.

Children's Sunday School meets at 9 a.m. with children's choirs and children's worship following. Age group adult Sunday School classes will meet at either 9 a.m. or 10:45 a.m., depending upon the class. An adult elective group will meet at 9 a.m. taught by Dr. David Beatty, surgeon at City of Hope and another at 10:45 a.m., taught by Cleo Shook, former Deputy Assistant Secretary of State. Further information on classes will be readily available at the church each Sunday.

The Worship theme will be the same for both the contemporary and traditional services. Senior Pastor, Dr. Charles A. Wickman, announces that he will begin a series of sermons on the Epistle of James this Sunday, the first message entitled "Joy In the Middle of it All."

For further information, you are invited to call the church at (818) 355-1403. Bethany Church is located at 93 N. Baldwin, Sierra Madre.

Congregational

On Sunday, Jan. 12, Associate Pastor James J. Stewart's sermon message will be titled "You Get What You Ask For." The scriptural reference for his message will be Matthew, chapter 7, verses 7 through 11. Jesus, in His "Sermon on the Mount," delivers His famous words on prayer.

The three Sunday morning worship services are at 8:30, 9:45 and 11:15 a.m.

The Sunday evening service, which starts at 6 p.m., in the main sanctuary, will be the presentation of a film titled "God of the New Age." Come and see this exciting film with us.

Methodist

"The Words of My Mouth" will be the sermon topic this Sunday at the Sierra Madre United Methodist Church. Rev. H. Elwood Wissmann, pastor, will be preaching at the 9:30 morning worship service. Nursery and child care are provided at that time. Church School classes for children through grade six are held at that hour each Sunday.

Rev. Harlan Waite continues his leadership of the Adult Study class which meets on Sunday morning at 10:45. During the month of January, he is leading a series on the Apostle Paul.

A special meeting will be held this Sunday evening at 7 p.m. The speaker will be Ralph Schloming, a retired Y.M.C.A. executive, who is head of the Presbyterian Peacemakers in Pasadena. He will be speaking on the subject "How to Implement An Effective Legislative Action Program for World Peace."

The Women's Prayer and Support group meets on Monday, 7:30 p.m., at the Parsonage. The committee on finance will have its organizational meeting for 1986, on Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., in the Lounge.

Lutheran

Next Sunday, Jan. 12, the sermon topic at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church in Sierra Madre will be: "Epiphany Christians." It is based on the ancient Epistle lesson: Romans 12:1-5. The sermon will explore the subject of how Christians are to manifest Christ in their lives through dedication, transformation and humbleness. Sunday School and Adult Bible Class will follow the service.

On Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m., the adult Bible class will continue its study of Holy Communion and begin its study of "The Ministry of the Keys." Visitors are welcome at all services and Bible classes. Don't be a Bible illiterate. Come and explore the Bible with us!

Muir's John Hardy named to the All-Southern Section football team

John Hardy, who participated in Muir's 13-1 season, was named by 19 sportswriters as one of 24 elite players in the CIF Southern Sections Nine Conferences.

John Hardy, a 6-foot, 160-pound tight-end and safety, was Muir's No. 2 receiver with 44 catches for 832 yards, 14 TDs, and also led Muir in tackles and pass interferences.

South Pasadena High School defeats San Gabriel

South Pasadena defeated host San Gabriel in a non-league game, 75-56, which placed S. Pasadena, 9-4 and San Gabriel, 5-9.

San Gabriel coach Bob Sorenson was hoping his team would make a run to catch up but it came too late in the third quarter only lowering the deficit from 19 to 10 points. So. Pasadena came back in the fourth to widen the gap with a 15-6 in the remaining 2:30.

San Gabriel player Andrew Bojarski, center, earned 19 points while forward, Jose Murillo, scored 17. However, Ken Boldt, scoring 29 points, and Robert Story adding 18, gave the needed advantage to So. Pasadena, even though they started without their star player, 6'5" Eric McArthur, who was out with a sprained ankle.

Pasadena High School defeated 45-41 by Fountain Valley

Fountain Valley scored off of 8 free throws in the final 1:36 by Scott Wessler and two by Todd Hanson.

Pasadena season record is 6-5 compared with Fountain Valley's, 9-5. Pasadena started out strong with a 4-0 lead, but soon found itself behind only by a few points. They tried on two occasions to stay ahead, but with Wessler's 11 of 12 free throws along with 17 field goals, couldn't stop Fountain Valley from turning the ball over four times in the last quarter.

Big swimmer

Because the tuna needs a continual flow of water across its gills in order to breathe, the fish would suffocate if it ever stopped swimming.

Another parade . . . another great year

By Jeff Miedema

As the sun set in Pasadena on New Year's Eve, 100,000 pre-parade spectators braved the cold for their blue-line seats on the parade route as 60 floats, 22 marching bands and 200 horses with riders made final preparations for the 97th annual Rose Parade.

With children wrapped in their sleeping bags and blankets, nervous parents waited for their spouses to come down and relieve them of their sentinal duties, while UCLA and Iowa Hawkeye fans shouted team slogans at one another. And still the hum of a lost blimp could be heard somewhere in the thick fog.

By 10 p.m., Pasadena Police had planned on a quieter night than usual because of the threat of rain. However, as the night wore on, early spectators kept pouring into the parade area to partake in the all-night party which had already begun.

As their numbers grew, an estimated 35,000 Iowa fans mixed in with the California regulars and could hardly be distinguished from anyone else except for a few Hawkeye pins plastered across their Hawkeye jerseys and Hawkeye hats and, of course, Hawkeye banners in hand.

As the morning drew nearer and the cold hinted of the impending dawn, noises began to die down as people tried to conserve energy to stay warm. At this point, the parade route began to look something like a bag ladies' convention, with bodies here and there mixed in with lawn chairs, ice chests and paper bags filled with last night's dinner and today's breakfast.

Then, as the cold got even colder, the big moment was here. The parade was about to start as the numbers grew 10-fold. People inched closer to the blue line and guarded their front-row seats from the invaders with their very lives. But the real danger seekers were the coffee merchants who peddled liquid life to the sleepy as donut dunkers savored each warm drop.

As the parade finally began, sleepy eyes peered from under what seemed to be tons of fabric piled over lumpy forms. But the cold, long wait was worth it as the gray street was transformed into a river of animated color flowing down the boulevard. As the animated, scented spectacles rolled by, pushed along by marching bands, laughter filled the air as delighted spectators shared in the theme of a "World of Laughter."

And just as it began, it ended with thousands upon thousands pouring out to form mile-long columns to the nearest bowl telecommunications center. If they were lucky, they had priceless tickets to the game and would revive from the morning at the pre-bowl party. If not, then a nap in front of the TV set would do before the 2 p.m. game.

And as the last sound left the deserted boulevard, only the distant forms of people could be seen collecting the thousands of cans that were deserted along with chairs, lost articles and tons of other items of interest.

But where did all of the spectators go? Well, I'm sure by the traffic I found around Altadena Dr. and Sierra Madre Blvd., another million slipped in to view the post-parade line-up!

Children help decorate float

Over 25 terminally ill children from Children's Hospital helped put the finishing touches (flowers) on Small World Greetings "A Celebration of Laughter," the lead float in the 1986 Tournament of Roses Parade recently at Fiesta Floats in Temple City.

The 65-foot float is dedicated to the Make-A-Wish Foundation, which grants wishes to terminally ill children and made possible the children's participation in the decorating activities. Alan Mark Levenson, president of Small World Greetings, was on hand to help the children.

High water

A gold hunter, Jimmy Angel, was the discoverer of the highest uninterrupted waterfall in the world (3121 feet) when he flew through one of the canyons in southeastern Venezuela in 1935.
